Title of the Challenge

Connect German University Students

What is the main issue the challenge addresses?

You can find German universities in Egypt, Turkey, Oman, Jordan, China, Mexico, etc. – however they are all disconnected from one-another and from Germany.

Wouldn't it be great if there was a way to connect all German universities abroad, so people can learn and create research groups together in order to aim for publications in (at least) low impact journals? This way they can learn languages together and can organize Erasmus+ projects or other projects together.

Call to Action

Bring communities together that belong together!

What is the desired impact of the challenge?

Improve engagement between German universities abroad, starting from the best university in Germany.

Related SDGs

Who is behind this challenge?

Undergraduate Research Club of Turkish-German University

The Turkish-German University in Istanbul is a state university established through an agreement between Turkey and Germany. Its aim is to combine the educational and research traditions of both countries and promote scientific, economic, and cultural cooperation.